Anti-Leopoldists Stage Walkout In Parliament

THAT ugly word, and deed, sabotage, has crept into the House of Commons debate on defence. The Government has stated that the recent blow-up of the ammunition barges in Portsmouth was due to skillful sabotage done by men of considerable scientific knowledge. Security measures are to be tightened. Most people will assume that the Communist Party was behind the work. It is the easy assumption. Germany's scapegoat was international Jewry; our own is Russia. It may even be true that the explosion at Portsmouth was caused by sabotage, and that the saboteurs were Communist. If that can be proved true as well as the fact that the Portsmouth incident was sabotage, clamour may rise in Britain for the abolition and proscription of the Communist Party, as has happened in South Africa and was tried in Australia. It would be logical clamour.

THE "containment" of Communism is the motive behind U.S. intervention in Korea. A policy that justifies the risk of Korea can ignore the presence of Communism in Europe. In Britain, the Party is weak; but leading members of it control some of the biggest trade unions. They should go, one would think, as surely as M. Joliot Curie had to go in France and Italy the whole trade union movement is dominated by the Communists, and it will need strong action to depose them. What was done at Portsmouth, if the Communists did it, could be done in France and Italy in hundredfold. We risk global war in the crusade against Pacific Communism. Surely it is folly to risk losing the global war, by leaving the Communists free in Europe to be the wreckers of the West's war effort. The time for discussion has past, said Arthur Koestler in the Berlin "Congress for Cultural Freedom." The nature of freedom has to be established by "rule of thumb." In other words, the free nations had better decide once and for all what to do with their Communists and fellow-travellers and had better do it without allowing Socialist or old-fashioned Liberal taradiddle to deflect them.

KOESTLER and his fellow ex-Communists at Berlin got the worst of the day. The other intellectuals were in no mood to outbid Wroclaw. The fact remains that there has been sabotage at Portsmouth and that the security regulations will have to be tightened. It remains also that the Communists of France and Italy may prove a decided embarrassment to the positive "containment" of Communism in Asia should lead, as logically it may, to positive efforts to contain it in Europe. Russia's Fifth Column wears none of the Hitlerian garb, it is there for everyone to see. It holds demonstrations, orders strikes, stops the unloading of ships and even prances about in Parliament. If this is permitted in the name of Western Democracy in what name is the same thing "contained" in Asia? Koestler, Burnham, Plivier and Bernasconi, converts to Communism, "and proud of it," consider this state of affairs illogical and want the Asian policy applied to Europe. Well, it is an illogical state of affairs; and the unfortunate thing about it is that more and more people will begin to see how illogical it is.

YESTERDAY'S debate in the House of Commons only hinted at the problem; those in whom the security of the State of Western Europe, of Christian Civilization, etc., are vested may be expected to have given the matter very serious study. Communism exists in Europe as a broad sea running wide and deep through the social structure. If war comes, it will be against the parent body from which the sea runs. How can the two be regarded as different things? How can a multiplication of Portsmouth explosions be avoided then? Koestler's rations were often heard from Berlin and Rome in the Third; but that may be the way, after all. It is certainly the way many people are thinking.

German Assets To Be Liquidated

Legislation permitting the Government to consolidate and liquidate German property in Israel became law in the Knesset yesterday. The property is to be used as security for compensation accruing to Israelis in respect of claims against German institutions or individuals.

German resources in Israel would cover less than one per cent of the total claims by Israelis against the German people, the Knesset was told yesterday by Mr. D.Z. Pincus, Chairman of the Finance Committee. He further stressed that the law did not imply any resumption of relations with the German Government or people.

The law affects the property of all persons who were German subjects after January 30, 1933, when Hitler took power in Germany. The Government had proposed the date of the Nuremberg Laws, September 13, 1935, but Dr. Zerah Warhaftig (Orthodox) swung the House over to reversing the decision. He argued that the Nazis had in effect declared war upon the Jews when Hitler took power, and he read out a list of anti-Jewish measures enacted by the Germans before the Nuremberg Laws.

In addition to exempting from the terms of the law the property of Germans who were persecuted under Nazi racial measures, the legislation exempts the holdings of persons who became German subjects through conquest. Dr. Warhaftig fought here too for an amendment designed to include Austrians, claiming that Austria had not been conquered by the Germans but had merged with it through the "Anschluss."

He further said that the Austrians had enthusiastically joined in the persecution of Jews. On this point Dr. Warhaftig failed, as the majority acted on Mr. Pincus' plea for support of the Government's position on this point.

Church Property
Another clause of the bill permits the Minister of Finance to exempt places of worship or property of German clerical, religious, cultural, educational, charitable or benevolent organizations. This clause touched off an argument that became so heated that the Acting Speaker, Dr. Nir, threatened to have some members removed from the session.

Mr. Uri Zvi Greenberg (Herut) made one of his infrequent visits to the Knesset shortly before this clause was debated. He was given the floor to defend a minority motion which had been tabled by another Herut member. Mr. Greenberg ignored the minority motion but read an excerpt from the Hebrew press describing a reception in Jerusalem on Tuesday for Mr. Charles Lutz, representing the Lutheran World Foundation. The newspaper report had omitted to mention that Mr. Lutz had been the Swiss Consul in Budapest who had saved 15,000 Jews from the Nazis. Mr. Greenberg, believing that he was a German, attacked the Knesset member who had given the reception as well as the Cabinet members, Supreme Court Justices and Knesset members who had changed handshakes with Mr. Lutz. When the identity of Mr. Lutz was explained to him, Mr. Greenberg said it was irrelevant as he did not alter the fact that he had come to reclaim the property of the German Evangelical Church.

Mr. Greenberg said that his father's house had been destroyed in Germany and he had others like him who would not permit the Government to return property to the German churches. He argued that the churches were only fronts for German colonization, and protested against the return of the Domination Church on Mt. Zion and Austrian Church property in Haifa.

Explanations Spurred
Dr. Nir tried to call Mr. Greenberg to order, saying that his speech had nothing to do with the subject.

Tov Leaves on Latin American Mission
LAKE SUCCESS, Wednesday. — Israel UN Delegate Moshe Tov left New York Tuesday as ambassador on a special mission to South and Central America.

The Israel delegation said that during the next two months Tov will meet with the governments of 17 countries. He will return in September to attend the fifth session of the General Assembly. Mr. Tov will represent the Government of Israel at the presidential inauguration of General Manuel Odría in Peru.

Israel to Query Report on RAF

HAKIRYA, Wednesday. — Israel will seek information at the next M.A.C. meeting on reports emanating from Amman and purporting to quote the Trans-Jordan Defence Minister to the effect that the British R.A.F. would guard the Israel-Jordan border.

The report, which was read here with great interest, would appear to conflict with the statement last April by the British Minister of State, Mr. Kenneth Younger, that "His Majesty's Government have no intention of requesting the establishment of military bases in peacetime within the area of Palestine now united in the Kingdom of Jordan."

This statement made at the time Great Britain recognized the annexation of Arab Palestine by King Abdullah had been regarded as an indication that British armed forces would not operate west of the Jordan River.

A Government spokesman today denied reports that Israel was attacking Arab villages outside her territory. He reiterated that aircraft engaged in neighbouring Arab states and flying over Israel territory would be subject to the rules and regulations published by the Israeli authorities, which are in accordance with international practice.

U.K. Denies R.A.F. To Patrol Border

LONDON, Wednesday (UPI). — A Foreign Office spokesman today denied reports that the R.A.F. had been ordered to patrol Jordan's frontiers.

The reports had said that Jordan Defence Minister Mulki Pasha told the Parliament in Amman Monday night that the Jordan government has made such arrangements with the R.A.F. to guard the Israel-Jordan boundary.

Plane Attack Draws
Lebanon U.N. Protest
BEIRUT, Wednesday (UPI). — The Lebanese Government sent a protest today to the U.N. Security Council against the alleged unprovoked attack Monday night by an Israeli fighter on a Lebanese plane.

The protest said the alleged attack was a "breach of the true violation of frontiers and of elementary human principles." It said that two persons were killed and six injured when the plane was machine-gunned 24 miles inside Lebanon territory.

The pilot said the plane did not fly over Israel territory. The transport was carrying pilgrims from Jerusalem to Beirut. Eight of the pilgrims were Americans and two Danes.

Envoys Propose 'Cultural Attaches'

HAKIRYA, Wednesday. — Foreign Ministers to foreign countries have concluded their sessions at the Foreign Ministry here and are now touring the country before returning to their posts.

Although the Conference was meant primarily to provide an opportunity for an exchange of information and views, one concrete proposal has emerged and is expected to take shape in the not distant future. It became clear in the discussion of Israel's links with Jewish abroad, that it would be most useful for legations and embassies to engage in cultural activities similar to those undertaken by legations of many other countries, both Eastern and Western.

The need emerged for the appointment of "cultural attaches" parallel to commercial, military, etc. attaches.

Task will be in the field of education, publications, spreading the Hebrew language, and in general providing an up-to-date picture of Israel for Jews and other interested residents of foreign countries.

The conference in general was a "most excellent" and "most successfully carried out," a Government spokesman told The Jerusalem Post today.

Informal talks with the Ministers who have been attending a round of receptions in Tel Aviv and in Jerusalem have shown how much they appreciated the opportunity to see the country at first hand. Changes and developments have been so rapid that without this renewed contact they might have become "out of touch."

They have now obtained a clear picture of:

North Nears Pusan; Boxed-In Yanks Counterattack Fiercely

U.N. Forces Retake Towns Held By Northerners, Reports Say

WITH MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Wednesday (Reuters). — American and South Korean troops were today reported counter-attacking on sectors of the South-eastern front in a desperate effort to shield their "defence box" around the bridgehead port of Pusan.

Reports of the counter-attacks came from an air force spokesman who said rocket-nirng jet aircraft were smashing against the spearhead of North Korean forces in the rail junction town of Hadong, 120 kms. west of Pusan, in support of American infantry assaults on the town.

The spokesman quoted a report — still unconfirmed — that Communist troops have been driven out of towns they took yesterday in their sweep eastward along the southern coast of the peninsula.

General Douglas MacArthur's communique said tonight that American and South Korean troops were holding stubbornly to defence positions despite continual North Korean pressure along all fronts.

First Cavalry Division repulsed several assaults upon their defensive positions in the Yongdok sector, inflicting heavy casualties on the infantry-tank attackers, the communique said.

Earlier, first moving Communist spearheads, driving along the South coast after their sweep across the plains of South-west Korea, were reported to have seized the junction of Madong, only 120 kms. from the main U.S. supply base of Pusan.

A spokesman at Eighth Army H.Q., announcing this today, said South Korean "marine police forces" yesterday repulsed an attack by 500 North Korean troops which the Northern troops seized yesterday.

The North Koreans drive to 4 MORE NATIONS OFFER TROOPS
LAKE SUCCESS, Wednesday (UPI). — Britain, Australia, New Zealand, and Turkey announced today they will send ground troops to South Korea to reinforce the hard-pressed U.S. 8th Army. Thailand already has offered 4,000 troops.

Britain also announced that her Far Eastern fleet will be built up to full war strength and that limited naval reserves — about 1,000 men — will be called to duty.

Truman Signs Arms Aid Bill
WASHINGTON, Wednesday (Reuters). — President Truman today signed a $1,222,500,000 military aid bill.

The bill provides help for America's allies around the world and particularly those in Europe who are banded together by the North Atlantic treaty.

Mr. Truman signed the measure into law at a ceremony in the White House and issued a statement saying the event marked another step towards a common goal.

U.S. Navy Adds 48 Warships
WASHINGTON, Wednesday (Reuters). — The U.S. navy is putting a total of 48 more warships at sea, including three large and six light aircraft carriers, two cruisers, 32 destroyers and five submarines.

This was announced today by Mr. Carl Vinson, Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Optimism at Front
Still Unwarranted
By MICHAEL DAVIDSON.
Published in The Jerusalem Post.

TOKYO, Wednesday. — This war and its future have become increasingly baffling. Senior officers at General Headquarters are tonight using phrases like "optimistic situation," "stabilized front," and "we are surprised that you are alarmed by the Communist move around the southwest."

But a very influential civilian in close touch with the highest authorities said today, off the record, that he gave our forces a 50-50 chance at staying on the peninsula at all.

Also, it was officially stated that although Communist losses are heavy, the North Korean divisions are brought back to strength within a fortnight of the action which caused the casualties. Again it is officially stated that the official figure of total Communist battle strength of more than 150,000 is an "estimate."

These assessments of North Korean resources and abilities — which in the case of supply and organization are praised by American staff officers — are scarcely consistent with optimism when one remembers our relative weakness in numbers and armaments.

Certainly Americans and South Koreans have now been reinforced by a range of defensive hills, or a mountain position: the front hasn't changed much since yesterday's "rectification" of the Yongdok defences. The Cavalry rearguard position, although nearly trapped in this town, are reported to have withdrawn successfully.

Allied Successes
Allied successes reported today while the First Cavalry Division is holding east, Yon-dong, the 22nd Division has retaken the township of Chosen to the north-east, and the South Koreans on their right flank have inflicted heavy casualties in a counter-attack at Chigan-ni. South of Yongdok on the east coast, the South Koreans also counter-attacked at Kwangdong and made captures.

It will shorten this war immensely, though it must drag on for a long time anyway, if the optimism proves justified, the mountain line holds firmly, and the Communists drive around the sea flanks out.

But there are many boys, including newspaper correspondents who returned from the front today, who still use the word "critical."

Truman Asks Control Powers, Tax Raise
WASHINGTON, Wednesday (AP). — President Truman today told the American people they would have to make some economic sacrifices. He declared himself ready to call for "complete economic mobilization" if the international situation deteriorated.

Mr. Truman told Congress in his midyear economic message that price ceilings, rationing and serious shortages can be avoided if Congress quickly gives him limited control powers and a $5,000m. tax increase.

But he warned: "We must realize that the engagement in Korea will be costly and may not be short. We must be prepared against the possibility that new crises may arise elsewhere."

The hazard means, he said, that industrial output must be increased possibly by a rate of $10,000m. annually before next January 1 and basic industry itself must be expanded by federal loans and guarantees.
